T. Harry Williams Center for Oral History Collection

ABSTRACT

INTERVIEWEE NAME: William G. Haag          COLLECTION: 4700.0453

IDENTIFICATION:  Boyd Professor Emeritus, Geography and Anthropology

INTERVIEWER: Jesse Walker

SERIES: University History – Distinguished Faculty & Administrators

INTERVIEW DATE: April 26, 1994          FOCUS DATES: 1930-1978

ABSTRACT:

Tape 643
Family history and grandfather's immigration; early college experience at University of Kentucky; early studies in geology; work as archaeologist for the Tennessee Valley Authority; completing the Ph.D. program at University of Michigan; service experience during World War II; teaching at the University of Mississippi; social life at Oxford, Mississippi; impressions of William Faulkner; people who influenced his career.

Tape 644
Influence of Leslie White's theories in Anthropology; begins career at LSU; research and teach in the 1950s; first identification of Poverty Point archaeological site in northern Louisiana; controversy regarding Poverty Point and National Park Service; involvement in archaeological excavations around the Centroplex and Magnolia Mound in Baton Rouge; research activates in the Antilles; interaction with students; lecturing to off-campus groups; involvement in the Foundation for Historical Louisiana and other service activities; service as state archaeologist; discussion of modest publication record; comment on friendships and notable colleagues at LSU; experience with LSU administration; award of Boyd Professor Emeritus distinction; involvement in community activities in New Roads since retirement; continued interest in Civil War.

TAPES:  2 (T643, T644)          TOTAL PLAYING TIME: 3 hours

PAGES TRANSCRIPT:  110 pages

RESTRICTIONS: None