NOTES ON PRELIMINARY REHOUSING

Loose items in collection were flattened, rehoused and sorted according first to size then to geographic area.

Whenever labeled folders existed, original order was maintained. However, this was rare.

Plats and legal documents pertaining to surveys were organized by parish and land district, with two exceptions, those being the City of Baton Rouge and the Owl Bayou Cypress Company, both of which subjects had sufficient amounts of material to warrant their own headings.

In the case of material labeled with both parish and land district, the land district designation was favored.

For want of a better word, the term "Miscellaneous" was used to refer to plats and legal documents which are not labeled as to geographic area.

Items which were badly damaged or torn were set aside for mending at a later date.

Of the three bound platbooks, one binding was intact. The other two were removed from their bindings and rehoused.

Survey notebooks have been dusted and placed in archival record boxes to await full processing.
