HISTORICAL NOTE
The Faculty Club of Louisiana State University was organized in 1938 as a social club for LSU faculty and their spouses. It was originally housed in the LSU Faculty Club, an on-campus hotel and restaurant built in 1939.

In its early days, the Faculty Club provided amenities such as a billiard room, a television room, faculty dormitories, guest rooms, and a restaurant. Club members and their spouses could enjoy sponsored activities such as bridge tournaments, dances, family nights, game nights featuring bridge and other games, concerts, cocktail parties, and football game events. The Faculty Club was conceived as a retreat for faculty members where they could relax and enjoy themselves. As early as the 1940s, though, the club had difficulties attracting paying members, and the dining room rarely turned a profit. In 1963, the organization handed over management of the building to the university, and the LSU Union took over responsibility for the restaurant.

Currently, the Faculty Club, Inc. of Louisiana State University operates as a social organization for its members, with occasional special events and a regularly scheduled TGIF gathering in the Faculty Club building.
