BIOGRAPHICAL/HISTORICAL NOTE

Joseph Crane Hartzell was born of Methodist parents on an Illinois farm, June 1, 1842. At the age of sixteen, he entered upon an eleven years' course of study. In 1868, he completed his theological course in Garrett Biblical Institute, graduating with a Bachelor of Divinity. Illinois-Wesleyan University had already granted him a Bachelor of Arts degree. Illinois Wesleyan and Alleghany College both granted him the degree of Doctor of Divinity in 1875.

He entered the Central Illinois Conference in the fall of 1868, and was appointed pastor of Pekin, Ill. In 1869, he married Miss Jennie Culver, of Chicago, and in February of the following year he was transferred to the Louisiana Conference. For three years he was stationed at Ames Chapel, (now St. Charles Avenue Church), New Orleans. This church was the only New Orleans Methodist church to remain with the Northern Conference when there was a split between northern and southern churches over the issue of slavery in 1848. During the nine years following Hartzell was presiding elder of districts in the Louisiana Conference. He began publication in 1873 of the Southwestern Christian Advocate, which he carried as a private enterprise until its adoption as an official paper of the Methodist Episcopal Church by the General Conference of 1876. He was editor of this paper until February 1881, when he resigned to become Assistant Secretary of the Freedman's Aid Society. At the General Conference of 1888 he was elected Corresponding Secretary of the Freedman's Aid and Southern Education Society, to which office he was re-elected by the General Conference of 1892. When the retirement of Bishop William Taylor made it necessary to choose his successor, the General Conference of 1896 elected Dr. Hartzell as Missionary Bishop for Africa.

During the next four years, Bishop Hartzell traveled 70,000 miles in performing the duties of his office. He presided over the four Annual Sessions of the Liberia Conference and on July 9, 1897, organized the Congo Mission Conference. He laid the foundations of the Mission in New and Old Umtali, Mashonaland, receiving as donations from the British South Africa Company, valuable lots in New Umtali, with appropriations of funds for the maintenance of a school among Europeans, and a tract of several thousand acres with twelve buildings, which cost over $100,000, at Old Umtali, for the establishment of an industrial Mission.

He held the first sessions of the East Central Africa and the West Central Africa Mission Conferences, which were formed from the Congo Mission Conference, in 1901. On September 20, 1903, he dedicated the St. Andrew's Methodist Episcopal Church, the first Methodist Episcopal Church erected for the use of white people in Africa. In the spring of 1910, Bishop Hartzell organized the American Mission in North Africa.

At the General Conference of 1916, he was retired from active service. Hartzell died on Sept. 6, 1928, at the age of 87 as a result of injuries sustained during a robbery at his home in Blue Ash, Ohio.

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

Joseph C. Hartzell Papers consist of his correspondence and relate primarily to his work as a minister and bishop. Miscellaneous printed items are also included.

The letter book, 1862-1872, deals with his work as student, teacher, and minister in Boomington and Pekin, Illinois, and New Orleans. After 1870, he became minister of the Ames Methodist Episcopal Church, at that time the only Northern Conference Church in New Orleans. His relations with members of the Southern Conference, attitudes of the Southern people, and political connections of members of the church are discussed in his correspondence with friends, members of his family, and other ministers.

From 1900 to 1906, the correspondence is concerned with Hartzell's work as Bishop for Africa. It deals with matters at the various stations, missions, and schools in Africa; ordering of varied equipment; attempts to raise money in support of missionary work; lecturing on the work in Africa; and the relations of missionaries in the field with prospective candidates.

There are newspaper clippings about the Hartzell family, the church, a history of the Mormons, and copies of prayers. There are three African steamship company timetables from October to December 1900.

Collection is available on microfilm at MssMf:H.

Note: The letterbook has been disbound and contents are in boxes 1 and 2.

APPENDIX A

Hartzell organized many of his letters in a letterbook that has been disbound. He numbered many of them and included an index in the back of the book. This table reflects the order the letters appeared in the book as well as the way he organized them. They are in chronological order now. Some letters are unsigned, and a few signatures are illegible. Question marks indicate uncertainty in the signatures.
